POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Many a man has been embarrassed for lack of hard cash; that situation is so commonplace that it isn't news.

But when any man or any commonwealth is embarrassed by reason of having too much money, that's news—and that's the situation California finds itself in today!

California citizens aren't getting rich from the war; most of them are getting poorer by the clock. But California State Government is so filthy rich with war profits — tax profits gleaned from the collection of the State Sales Tax and Use Tax on war purchases—that politicians are wondering how they can escape making a refund to the taxpayers.

That strange state of affairs is well illustrated by two salient facts:

1.—During the past fiscal year, state revenues exceeded state expenditures by more than $69,000,000.

2.—During the present fiscal year, the excess of income over outgo will probably jump to $100,000,000—a colossal sum, even to politicians.

If backed right up against a wall, state officials would be forced to admit that during the war period—when an artificial war prosperity is booming state income out of all bounds — they could afford to reduce state taxes anywhere from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year, without endangering the state's fiscal position. In fact, they would still end up with a surplus.

The arguments in favor of a program of sweeping tax reductions, along the lines proposed by Gubernatorial Candidate Earl Warren, are briefly as follows: 1.—California taxpayers are carrying such a terrific load of Federal taxes to finance the war that they desperately need relief in local taxes. 2.—The State's present prosperous condition is entirely artificial. California taxpayers have taken it out of one pocket and put it in the other; that's what it amounts to, for while the state goverment is getting rich the taxpayer is sadly bent, due to the sharp increases in his Federal taxes. And the Federal expenditures for war purchases in Californed are making it possible for state government to reap its big tax profits under the Sales and Use taxes.

It's a strange mix-up, but out of it—if the people rise up and demand it—may come at least a temporary reduction in state taxation. The state income tax repeal measure on the November ballot, which is considered almost certain of success, is only a drop in the bucket compared to the tax reduction that can and should be accomplished. The income tax amounts to about $20,000,000 per year, and by the most conservative estimate, California can afford to repeal—at least temporarily—another $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 in state taxes.

Mrs. Lillian Voge enjoyed a visit Monday from her son Hervey Voge and family of Berkeley.

Harvest Home Festival to be Event of Interest

Entries for the Harvest Home Festival to be held jointly in the civic auditorium and the Sainte Claire hotel in San Jose, on Friday and Saturday of next week, Sept. 18 and 19, have come in so rapidly that additional space has been secured.

Mrs. Bertha M. Rice, founder of the Garden Forum, which is sponsoring this unique "County Fair" by women of the Santa Clara valley, reports that committee meetings at headquarters in the Sainte Claire this week had promised an overflow of beautiful and attractive displays. Every district of the county will be represented.

The arts and crafts exhibit at the civic auditorium will be open to the general public both Friday and Saturday of next week from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Paintings, ceramics, textiles, weaving, knitting, and all forms of beautiful handiwork by the leading artists and women of the valley will represent an important section of the "Home Front."

Sixty-seven members of the San Jose Garden Forum will participate in the exhibits of garden, field and orchard products of the valley, produced by women. Preserved, canned, pickled and dried foods will be included. Flowers, culinary herbs, vegetables, fruit, etc., in beautiful array, may be viewed by the public on Friday afternoon and evening, Sept. 18, from one to ten o'clock, p. m., at the Sainte Claire.

One of the popular Garden Forum luncheons and interesting programs at the hotel on Saturday, the 19th, from 12:30 to 6 p. m., will bring to a close one of the most singular and interesting events held in San Jose during recent years.

The public is cordially invited to attend the luncheon program. Reservations must be made in advance at the hotel. Quite a number from this locality have signified their intention of participating.

E. C. Merrills Have Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Merrill received a visit from Mr. Merrill's niece, Mrs. Robert Perkins, who has just returned from three years spent in Honolulu where her husband, Brigadier General Perkins is stationed. As Miriam Craig, Mrs. Perkins resided in Campbell at one time with her mother, Mrs. David Craig and brother, Wallace, and graduated from the high school here.

Mrs. George Wilbur Robinson (nee Elsie Merrill) of Merced came over Saturday to enjoy her cousin's visit.

Her husband is a second lieutenant in the adjutants office of the air corps at Merced, where he handles the law work for the corps.

Red Cross Work Room Open Every Wednesday

Beginning next Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 16, the Red Cross work room in the Odd Fellows hall, will be open every Wednesday from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Mrs. Ray Wood, director, wishes to take this opportunity to thank the nine workers who so generausly gave of their time during the recent recess, to assist in making first aid kit bags for the local defense council. She also wishes to urge anyone who can spare time for Red Cross work to respond to the urgent need for workers. No personal invitations are being given. Please come and bring your neighbor. You will be very welcome.

The front of the building to house the Nelson Grain company, corner of Campbell avenue and First street is being re-stuccoed this week by E. L. Farnham.

Local School Taxes Lower This Year

School taxes for the various districts in the county have been set by the county board of supervisors and for the two local union districts the rate is lower than last year.

County Supt. Lewis C. Britton states that one of the principal factors for the reduction, which occurs in many of the school districts is increased assessed valuation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Townsend of Merced, are the proud and happy parents of a son born Aug. 23. The youngster has been named Harold Daniel and is a grandson of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Townsend of Union avenue.

Talk on "Bees" Interesting Topic Of Kiwanis Meet

The talk on "Bees" which the Rev. Donald Baldwin gave for the Kiwanis club Tuesday proved to be exceedingly interesting and informative.

The lecture dealt with the care, upkeep and habits of bees. The speaker acquired his knowledge at his father's apiary in Montana, from which car loads of honey are shipped yearly.

He reported that apiarists are given higher priority ratings than government projects for lumber, and that they may always obtain sugar because in case of a sugar crisis, honey would be an important item for the war effort.

In furtherance of his discussion Rev. Baldwin had brought specimens of bees and samples of equipment.

Next week Rev. J. H. Bennett will report on his summer work at the conference he attended in Loveland, Colo.

Rev. Baldwin will do the honors as chairman.

Grange Members Discuss Stray Dog Situation

Dogs running loose throughout the town have become a public nuisance and seem to be appearing in ever increasing numbers.

At Tuesday's meeting of Orchard City grange the subject was discussed at length, many members complaining about their gardens and lawns being dispoiled.

A committee was appointed to consult with Supervisor Joe McKinnon to see if there is any county ordinance that can be invoked, or if any other steps are possible to alleviate this nuisance.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to Have Picnic

The annual picnic of District 20 of the I. O. O. F. will be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock in Los Gatos Memorial park, and will be a family afternoon gathering.

The committee announces that coffee will be served but people must bring their own sugar.

All Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, Theta Rho girls and Junior Odd Fellows are invited.

Guild Groups Meeting Today

Group No. 1 of the Congregational Guild is meeting this afternoon at the Manse, with Mrs. Charles Baker of North Harrison avenue as hostess.

Group No. 2 is being entertained at the home of Mrs. W. H. Stray. This group is completing a number of pieced lap robes which are being made for hospital service for the armed forces.

Sanitary District Board Election Monday, Sept. 14

Monday, Sept. 14, is election day for voters living in the Campbell Sanitary district.

Candidates who have filed for election are Herbert M. Shadle and Ethan Lanphear, to fill the positions of Worthin Grattan and J. O. Leverton who declined to run again.

Guy E. Farley is a candidate to succeed himself as assessor for the district.

The polls will be in the kindergarten room of the Campbell Union Grammar school and will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Mrs. Alma Leverton, inspector, Mrs. Francis C. Cousins and Mrs. Jeanette Grizzle, judges, will constitute the election board.

Fruit Workers Sentenced For Stealing Tire

Two confessed tire thieves, Elmer Harris, 22, and Albert Harris, 20, fruit workers, were last week sentenced by Judge John D. Blaine to six months each in the county jail.

These men were arrested on Aug. 28 by officers Frank Weeks and Ethan Lanphear. The value of the tire they stole was about $10, but in imposing sentence Judge Blaine pointed out that tire stealing is now comparable to old-fashioned horse stealing.

Traffic fines collected by the local justice court for August totaled $101.50; for July first month of the new fiscal year, $132.00.

Post Is Being Made Comfortable

The call for funds with which to make the Campbell observation post habitable for the winter season has realized $34 to date, but work began some time ago.

Clarence Phillips and Walter Stray have donated their services and the main room is completed, while others have given the use of trucks and other services.

Donations for the work are still being asked for and may be left at the Shadle Drug store or the Campbell Water company office.

Herbert Shadle is chairman of the fund committee, assisted by G. E. Farley and J. C. Agostinho.

Certainly the least we can do is help make as comfortable quarters as possible for those faithful citizens who guard our homes day and night.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knappen Saturday were the latter's aunt Mrs. Estella Claussen of North Dakota and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Claussen of Richmond and Sgt. Franklin Claussen, member of a tank division now on maneuvers in Southern California.

OUR VALLEYS OF DECISION

By Louis Bromfield

"This is a new kind of war, a war for which we have as yet been unable even to find a name. It marks a turning point in world history, the most enveloping and decisive turning point there has ever been, because for the first time in the world's history the entire world is involved and because the decision involves the whole future of civilization.

"The future of civilization is a vague and tremendous and oratorical phrase. Interpreted and broken down, it means the freedom of yourself and myself, whether we shall be allowed to live in a decent fashion enjoying liberty and prosperity and human dignity, involving the future of the very house we live in, the happiness and well-being of our children, the opportunities of young people and all the comfort and security of the old. It affects how we shall worship God, and how and whether we can live in decency with our neighbors. We can help, all of us, by fighting, by working, by keeping our courage high. We can help too, enormously, by lending to ourselves the money which is necessary to win this war, by testifying to our confidence in our own country, our own battle. War Bonds and War Stamps are weapons exactly as tanks and guns are weapons. Buy now, not tomorrow, or next day, but now—to save what God gave us and what we have fought for since our country became a Nation—BUY WAR BONDS."

SHOP EARLY!

It's Christmas shopping time for those planning to send presents to members of the armed forces now stationed abroad.

Here, in September's golden days, we can scarcely hear an echo of Kris Kringle's sleigh bells, or so much as catch a glimpse of shining holly and white-berried mistletoe. Yet six weeks more will bring the final deadline for sending Christmas gifts abroad to our soldiers, sailors and airmen stationed from Iceland to Africa, from Australia to North Ireland.

Thus warn the Army, Navy and post office departments, setting November 1 as the last-chance mailing date, and asking the public not to send packages exceeding the bulk of an ordinary shoe box, nor exceeding six pounds in weight. They politely request that food not be sent, and the same applies to clothing unless specifically requested.

So far as sending such gifts to Europe, Asia, and the South Pacific are concerned, the last day of October is your Christmas Eve. Remember it, so when the real Christmas morning awakens America's fighting men on distant seas and at lonely outposts far from home, your thoughtfulness will bring them Christmas cheer. In a word, it's time to start shopping at home!

Uncle Sam needs the money. You need your car. If both of you are to remain happy, don't fail to purchase your federal auto tax stamp if you haven't done so yet. July 1 was the official deadline, but collectors of the Department of Internal Revenue have leniently allowed laggards two months' grace. There'll be no more such grace after next week. Pay your $5 today and save paying a $25 fine on the morrow. It's the last call!

THE QUALITY OF MERCY

Last week fell the nineteenth anniversary of one of the most terrible disasters to befall a nation — the Japanese earthquake of 1923 that, followed by tidal waves and fires, destroyed 70 per cent of the buildings in Tokyo and Yokohama, killed 140,000 persons, injured half a million, sank and stranded more than half the Japanese Navy, and paralyzed the nation in face of looting, rioting and pestilence.

Within three days, an American warship, laden with food and medicines, reached Yokohama. Within a week, 12 other American Navy mercy ships arrived. Within 20 days, 11 fast freighters were on the way from Pacific coast ports to Japan, burdened with every form of needed supplies. The American Red Cross stripped its emergency relief fund for Japanese aid and was immediately supplied with millions of dollards donated by generous ctizens of every American state and community.

And then Masanao Hanihara, Japanese ambassador to the United States, said: "America's open-handed sympathy in Japan's sorest need will forever drive from the Japanese mind all thought of American aggressiveness in the Far East. . . . . Of course, Japan will be grateful. Never — for we have long memories in our country—never shall we forget your sympathy in this hour of our national distress. The earthquake revealed to Japan the unstrained quality of mercy in America's heart."

Nineteen years after all that, to the week, the Japanese refused to grant safe passage to the relief ship destined, under rules of international law in war to relieve the misery of sick and hungry prisoners of war. No other nation on earth has been guilty in this war of such utter heartlessness. Hitler and Mussolini are war-lords of ruthlessness seldom equalled in history, yet Germany and Italy have facilitated the shipment of food, clothing and medical supplies to American prisoners in those countries.

The quality of mercy in America's heart has been turned to the wrath of vengeance for those helpless prisoners she cannot aid. The Los Angeles Times looking grimly ahead, has predicted that history will rewrite the date of Japan's greatest disaster from September 1, 1923, to December 7, 1941. Another date Japan may bitterly regret is the day she barred that mercy ship from the men who fought on Bataan.

THE WAR HITS HOLLYWOOD

Before very long, because of the war, Hollywood will be making only a tenth of the pictures made now —around 50 a year, instead of 500. Many factors enter. Technicians, writers, younger leading men are going into government or military service. Various materials grow scarce, and there are limits on set construction.

This by no means indicates that the movie industry is non-essential. The government and the industry will cooperate in the common purpose of using the powerful medium of the screen to promote morale and foster education for winning the war and the peace. It will mean to the general public, in all probability, merely fewer and better pictures—with mass production of "B" pictures eliminated. That should work no hardship on the national movie audience, nor in the long run, on the prospects for continued greatness of the moving picture industry.

THEY NEVER FORGET

French patriots have bombed five buildings in the seaport city of Marseilles, expressing in language plain enough for Vichy to understand their disapproval of pro-Axis newspapers and of recruiting stations set up to enlist French workers and soldiers in Germany's labor and fighting forces.

The fearless people who stormed the Bastille are long since dead, but not the spirit of rebellion and hatred of tyranny. Those who have once known liberty never forget it, as the Nazi jailers are finding out.

Home Owners Must Register If Rent One Room

Private home owners who rent even a single room must register for the federal rent-control signup, it was pointed out today by Murray R. Benedict, rent chief in the San Francisco-Bay Defense Rental area.

"Any private home owner, or even a tenant who rents a dwelling for his own use and then sublets one or more rooms, must file," Benedict said.

"If a private home owner or tenantof a private home is renting rooms to three or more paying tenants he must register under the hotel-rooming house classification. He has until midnight, Sept. 15 to do so.

"If he is renting to only one or two paying tenants, he should have registered under the classification other than hotels and rooming houses. Registration for that classification ended on Aug. 15. Any private home landlord who failed to so register may apply to the rent office, 1355 Market St., for permission to file a delayed statement.

"If he can show 'good faith,' his statement will be received without prejudice."

"Thy name, O Lord, endureth for ever; and thy memorial O Lord throughout all generations." These words from Psalms comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, Sept. 13, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Substance."

Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. Thou sendest forth thy spirit, they are created: and thou renewest the face of the earth," (Ps. 104: 24, 20).

Also included in the Lesson-Sermon will be passages from the Christian Science textbook.

Boy Injured When Auto Hits Bicycle

Donald Noonkester, son of Samuel J. Noonkester, 45 Harrison avenue, was taken to the county hospital Saturday morning, after he was knocked from his bicycle at the corner of Rincon and Winchester.

According to the report of Highway Patrolman Frank Edwards who investigated, the boy wheeled out of a service station directly in the way of a car driven by Elizabeth Renner of Roseberg, Oregon.

Thought to have a possible fractured limb, examination disclosed minor injuries for which he was treated.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"Army Doctor" by Elizabeth Seifert.

This author wrote a $10,000 prize novel titled "Young Doctor Galahad" a couple of years ago. In the interim a couple of other books by the same writer, delving into the medical profession, have become "best sellers." But the most recent publication, up-to-date—in fact right up to the last minute, is a book that all of us should read. We should read it, not only for the information that it furnishes about our armies and what comprises them, but also for natural, everyday happenings of military routine that each of us would be happier in knowing. It is first of all a romance.

Dr. Paul Saunders, had been practising for several years, and for a man just beginning he was getting along nicely. The war began and subsequently he was drafted. He hated war. He valued freedom and individuality above everything else, but in the army he had to live amid regimentation and discipline—without question. Nevertheless he contributed his share of preparations for a war that seemed to come closer every day. He even had to take his orders from a superior who was first a soldier, only second a doctor.

As time slipped by, day by day in the army camp, he soon found that there is a lot of excitement in the practice of medicine even in a mobile trailer unit, and that camp life has problems that have to be tackled without hesitation. Lieutenant Paul Saunders met each situation, in the beginning, belligerently but as situations began to stack up and mount higher and higher in seriousness, he faced them with determination and less personal animosity. He was friendly, and the boys liked him; it wasn't long before he was taking their troubles upon his own shoulders. Then trouble and intrigue entered the picture in the person of the blonde wife of a Captain. Danger lurked near. Kitty, the red-headed daughter of the Major proved to be more than mildly provocative, and Paul's best friend a forbidding rival for her attentions.

Conclusively, the story of how Dr. Paul Saunders handled the Medical Corps, or more truthfully, how the Medical Corps handled Lieutenant Paul Saunders, is a tale that is timely and absorbing and one that everyone will enjoy.

The exterior of the Campbell theater is being painted this week. The interior was redecorated some weeks ago.

Everything Happens for the Worst
By IRVIN S. COBB

THIS one is dedicated to pessimists and is included in this symposium especially for their consideration.

The setting is a country store. The proprietor is reading a newspaper which has just arrived from the city.

Uncle Henry, the official grouch of the neighborhood, bites off a chew of tobacco and masticates it with a morose intensity. This done, he is moved to ask a question:

"Ezra," he says, addressing the storekeeper, "I persoom that durned paper is jest as dull tonight as 'tis every other night in the week. No news wuth tellin', I reckin?"

"Well," says the proprietor, "there's one item on the front page that's sort of interestin'. It says here that a lot of these scientists all over the world are gettin' together in a scheme to change the calendar and have thirteen months to the year instead of twelve."

"Uncle Henry gives a low despairing moan:

"It'll be jest my luck for it to be a winter month an' me plum' out o' fodder!"

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

"The possibilities for economies have been no more than scratched," according to the Byrd committee — the joint congressional committee on reduction of non - essential Federal expenditures — but the fight has produced real results and certainly has not been in vain!

By way of analysis, the Byrd committee reports that whereas the committee, in its last statement to Congress, recommended specific savings aggregating $1,301,075,000, Congress has actually achieved economies totaling $1,313,983,208.

To the average taxpayer, who sometimes wonders what all the shouting about economy comes to, the Byrd committee's report while it leaves much yet to be desired, is at least reassuring.

Here are some of the savings which the committee reports as already achieved:

Abolition of CCC, $238,960,000—eight million dollars less than the committee recommended, this amount being allotted to liquidate the agency.

Elimination of NYA non-defense activities, $83,767,000—again eight million dollars less than the committee proposed, this amount being voted to continue subsidizing college students.

Reduction in WPA, $540,000,000—a saving of $140,000,000 greater than the committee hoped to achieve, because at the time the committee studied the problem it made greater allowances for unemployment due to peace-to-war industrial conversion than proved to be necessary.

Curtailment of non-defense expenditures of U. S. Department of Agriculture—a saving of $195,731,208.

Deferment of non-defense public building and highway projects—a saving of $83,148,000.

Deferment of Interior Department public works—$56,985,000 saving.

Deferment of rivers and harbors projects — $43,358,000 saving.

Reduction in loan authorization—$130,000,000 saving.

The committee admits that this is only a beginning—that many more cuts—and deeper cuts—can be made.

But the committee likewise promises that it intends to examine further "practices and conditions in purchasing, classification, salaries, transportation, publicity and other overhead items," with a view to achieving greater efficiency and economy in all of the so-called permanent agencies.

Even more important, the Byrd committee announces that it now plans to make a careful scrutiny of the high wide and handsome spending of war agencies. Just because an agency is engaged in some work vital to the war, the committee asserts, does not mean that it is immune to inquiry into spending proclivities which may have nothing to do with winning the war.

In this connection the committee says:

"With the national debt standing today at approximately 80 billlion dollars, and with unexpended war balances totaling 160 billion dollars there is in prospect a national debt of at least 200 billion dollars.

"This takes into consideration revenue which is meeting not more than 30 per cent of expenditures this year. With such a fiscal policy in view, the need for every possible economy in non-essentials is urgent."

To all of that, the average taxpayer will certainly say "Amen!"

We must win this war at all costs, but certainly we are entitled to know that government is tightening its belt, along with the individual.

There are still 8,000 press agents (according to the latest report) on the Federal payroll in Washington. Millions are still being spent in trying to convince Mr. and Mrs. Public that John Jones, the head of umpty-umpty department, is a splendid fellow, who deserves to be continued in office, war or no war. Under the circumstances we hope the Byrd committee continues to put the finger on all non-essentials, and we hope that Congress will forget politics and do its duty by the people back home.

Civil Service Examinations Reannounced

In view of the scarcity of qualified persons to fill certain positions in government hospitals, the Civil Service commission has issued, in revised form, three of its continuously open-examinations. Requirements have been materially modified.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service commission. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met.

Full information as to requirements, and application forms, may be obtained from the secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners at the post office.

Wilbur Morton will arrive Sunday morning from Pittsburg, Pa., where he is in the electrolysis laboratory of the Westinghouse Electric company. He was granted two weeks vacation from his very arduous work to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herold Morton, and brother Richard and family.

Salute to the MEN and WOMEN of CIVILIAN DEFENSE should WAR come home... they're Ready!

This war will be won by the spirit of the American people. This spirit is in the young men of our armed forces. It is the spirit of clean-living, clear-eyed, hard-hitting American youth. It is also in the spirit of unselfish sacrifice of personal time and energy by all who must remain on the Home Front. In tribute to the latter, we salute the men and women of Civilian Defense.

Who are these men and women? They are your friends and neighbors whose days are active and whose nights are given to the half-hundred activities of Civilian Defense.

In this work it is natural that many employees of this company take active part. As workers in public utility service they have special adaptabilities valuable to vital branches of Civilian Defense.

Likewise, there are many men who through long years of experience have developed special skills essential in keeping the output of gas and electricity flowing at top speed so that war plant production may run ahead of schedule.

Already more than 1,200 of the young men of this company are in the armed forces. Each month this total grows.

In Civilian Defense are more than 4000 company employees—nearly forty per cent of the total number.

In the mountain regions, close by the great power plants, hundreds of these men and women are Airplane Observers.

Men and equipment of this company are enlisted in Demolition and Clearance Crews, Bomb Squads, Auxiliary Firemen, Feeding and Housing, Rescue Squads, Road Repair Crews, Air Raid Wardens and many other activities.

We are proud to be part of this army at home. It is the people's army — sober, serious, trained and ready for Public Service.
